

The world filled with darkness
It separated families who wept
Those who have caused this were heartless
And the harsh memories I have kept

Though the years were rough
I managed to find hope in the dark
My family was what kept me tough
Through the pain, a light sparked

This new light brought me back to life
Color was sent back to me
I felt like a happy wife
God heard my plea

I have fought hard to move on
It wasn't easy, but I made it
The pain is now gone
Now I am filled with wit
